DETAILED ACTION

1. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 4/20/05 has been entered.

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claims 1-3 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over JP 64-81874 in view of Reisser et al (USPN 5332767) as set forth in the Office action mailed 4/14/04.

4. Claim 4 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over JP 64-81874 in view of Reisser et al (USPN 5332767) as set forth in the Office action mailed 4/14/04.

5. Applicant's arguments filed 1/21/05 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant argues, "a metal particle will not have the same affinity for the component of ink binder through the polymer as carbon black." Applicant is reminded that JP '874 teaches using a carbon black that is coated with polyamine; and dispersing the coated carbon black within an ink binder such as resin wherein the dispersion is uniform because of the affinity between the polyamine and the ink binder. Since there is no direct affinity between the carbon black and the ink binder, it does not matter if a metal has an affinity for the ink binder.

Applicant argues that the ink of JP '874 differs from the claimed ink because of the difference in application fields. This argument is misplaced because the ink of JP '874 like the claimed ink is an ink that can be printed onto a film or sheet. The fact that the present claimed invention recites a printed film or sheet that is used in an insert molding process is not a ground for patentability because the instant claim is directed to an ink composition.

Applicant argues that the invention of JP '874 is destroyed by the use of the metal particles of Reisser et al because applicant believes only carbon black can be used as the particle. Applicant's argument is misplaced because the carbon black is distributed throughout the ink binder by the affinity between the polyamine that is coated on carbon black and the ink binder. There is no direct affinity between the carbon black and the ink binder.

6. All claims are drawn to the same invention claimed in the application prior to the entry of the submission under 37 CFR 1.114 and could have been finally rejected on the grounds and art of record in the next Office action if they had been entered in the application prior to entry under 37 CFR 1.114. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL even though it is a first action after the filing of a request for continued examination and the submission under 37 CFR 1.114. See MPEP § 706.07(b).

Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.

7. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Tanck (USPN 3806458) teaches a developer mixture having acrylic coated metal particles.

8. Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to EDMUND H. LEE whose telephone number is 571.272.1204. The examiner can normally be reached on MONDAY-THURSDAY FROM 9AM-4PM.
